

THE INTERVIEW

HOW TO MASTER THE JOB HUNT

BRET RICKARD

After graduating with B.S. in Chemical Engineering from Montana State University, Bret moved to San Francisco to work for Accenture. He then moved into recruiting where he eventually became the Head of Staffing at Mozilla. In 2012 he joined Sequoia Capital, where he works with early stage founders to develop efficient recruiting practices, help hire core engineering teams and make suggestions to avoid the many bumps that lay on the path to becoming a meaningful company.

MEGH GUATAM

Megh graduated with a B.T. in Information Technology at National Institute of Technology (NIT) Durga in India. After graduating, he moved to the U.S. to work at Microsoft, first as an engineer and then moved into a program/product manager role. After a few years in Seattle, he moved to the Bay Area to attend Stanford University where he received a M.S. in Management Science and Engineering. He is now a Product Manager at Hearsay Social where he works on new products and the Core compliance platform.

MAYUMI MATSUNO

Senior Director of Product at Electric Imp, a cloud service and hardware solution that makes it simple to connect devices to the Internet. The Electric Imp platform features fully integrated hardware, software, OS, APIs, cloud services and security, providing your devices with intelligence, scalability and flexibility. She is an alumna of Mozilla, Google, and Deloitte. Mayumi earned her BA in EEP from Claremont McKenna College and she earned her MS in Management Science & Engineering from Stanford University.

Join us on Wednesday, Feb. 1 from 7pm to 9pm in Roberts North 15 for a video chat on tech. We'll cover topics including finding jobs at startups, visa sponsorship, and how their careers have taken shape. This is an unprecedented opportunity to learn from the head of staffing, a product manager, and head of product with backgrounds at firms including Sequoia Capital, Microsoft, Mozilla, Google, and Deloitte. Each member of the panel will discuss a topic of their choice, then students will have the opportunity to ask questions.

Wednesday February 1st, 7:00-9:00pm - Roberts North 15
